Gask Pendant Light by Diesel Living with Lodes

The Gask pendant has clean round lines that are reminiscent of the terraced pyramids of the Ancient Mesopotamia and harks back to vintage style. A truly eye catching pendant light the diffuser is made from blown glass, in either a transparent or army green colour, and is finished with a black metal structure.

The light source is exposed, giving the Gask pendant lamp a slight industrial feel that would look at home in commercial and retail spaces. This pendant light can be utilised in many spaces, however, as its sizes makes it perfect for small rooms or bigger rooms when used in multiple. Mix and match colours to create variety or use one colour for a more uniform aesthetic. Provides an overall and downward directed illumination.

The Gask suspension light comes with a standard white ceiling canopy but is available with ceiling canopies in different sizes and colours. This suspension is also suitable for creating clusters when used with a multiple ceiling canopy from Diesel Living with Lodes. Please contact us for prices and more information.
