Adnet Wall Mirror by Gubi

The Adnet circular wall mirror by Gubi was originally designed in 1950 by the acclaimed Jacques Adnet. Collaborating with the famous French fashion house, Hermès, Adnet developed a collection of leather-covered furniture and interior accessories.

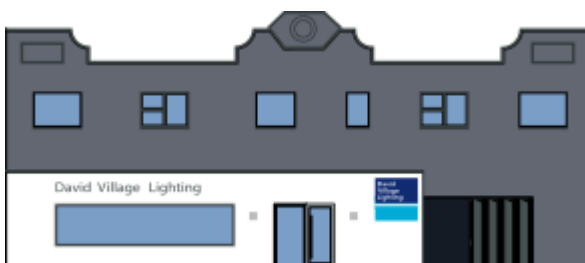

Being one of the first to combine leather with glass, this mirror draws inspiration from classic design whilst using a modern twist. Taking inspiration from equestrian design, the mirror features brass details and includes a wall hanger set. The strap is in complete proportion to the mirror and also has a magnet attached to the back to ensure the mirror stays close to the wall.

Available in a leather or alcantara material and various colours and sizes, this mirror works perfectly throughout the home, and can create a stunning effect when purchasing different sizes to put together on the wall.
