PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

Designer: Flemming Agger

368 Floor Lamp by Le Klint

The 368 floor lamp was originally launched in 1979 at a fair in Gothenburg, Sweden and was designed for Le Klint by Flemming Agger. Still their best-selling floor lamp to date, the 368 floor light combines Agger's aesthetic and Le Klint's hand-pleated shade to create a timeless and iconic design.

The beautifully arched metal stand and the folded lampshade is reminiscent of a tall flower, both pretty and delicate in form. The lampshade can also be tilted allowing you to have a directional light, whether you want a nice reading light or want to create a warm glow throughout the room. With a simplistic, monochromatic colour scheme, this floor lamp will fit easily into any design scheme and will look good in any environment.
