Verpan Panto Pendant

The Verpan Panto Pendant light was designed by Verner Panton in 1977 and is another take on the iconic VP Globe design. The VP Globe is arguably the most recognized Panton lighting design and was created with the aim of being a lamp that could catch the eye and unite a room, regardless of whether it hung alone or in clusters. This inspired the creation of the Panto ceiling pendant which has an iconic futuristic look and decorative mood setting light output.

The ceiling lamp's sculptural design interacts with its surroundings beautifully and showcases organic shapes and bold colours, without ever compromising on quality or workmanship. The Verpan brand is always looking to tap into Verner Panton's heritage and skill by re-imagining products and solutions that help us solve modern challenges and rethink the ways we live, work and meet. This is clear within the Panto design and overall aesthetic.
