Allegro Ritmico Pendant Light by Foscarini

A part of the Foscarini Allegro collection by Atelier Oi, the Allegro Ritmico pendant is a beautiful light, constructed by aluminium rods that seem to weave in and out symbiotically to create an provocative and captivating light. The pendant emits light from the bottom and the top so can act as both a spotlight and as an ambient light that has a far-reaching, warm glow.

The Allegro Ritmico pendant light has a lovely graphite finish, being modern and stylish to slip into many interiors. The pendant light can be used in big open spaces in multiple or in a smaller room as a main feature light. Perfect for rooms with high ceilings, you can match this light with others from the collection or from the Foscarini Allegretto collection which has the same aesthetic as the Allegro range but on a smaller scale. Create fun clusters or use in rows for functional lighting.

This light is available in a LED version. Please click here to find out more.
