Designer: Jean Prouvé

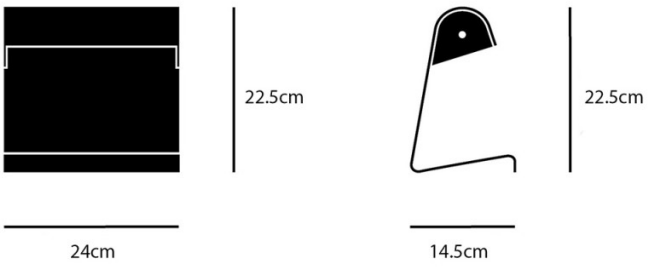

Vitra Lampe de Bureau Table Lamp

Designed in 1930, the Vitra Lampe de Bureau Table Lamp was created by Jean Prouvé for the halls of residence at the Cité Universitaire in Nancy. The table lamp houses a light bulb that sits at the top of the silhouette, projected downward and reflecting off the shaped metal structure to create a pleasant and effective glow.

The Lampe de Bureau Table Light is perfect for use as a desk light, with its glare-free illumination providing a wonderful atmosphere for reading and tasks. You can also use the Lampe de Bureau Table Lamp on bedside tables and other surfaces to achieve atmospheric lighting. Available in a range of chic colours, which are all based on original finishes by Prouvé in the 30s, this design can effortlessly adapt to a range of interior styles. Iconic and classic, its timeless design will remain contemporary in any setting, whether at home, in a workspace or in a commercial interior.
