Anglepoise Original 1227 Desk Lamp National Trust Edition

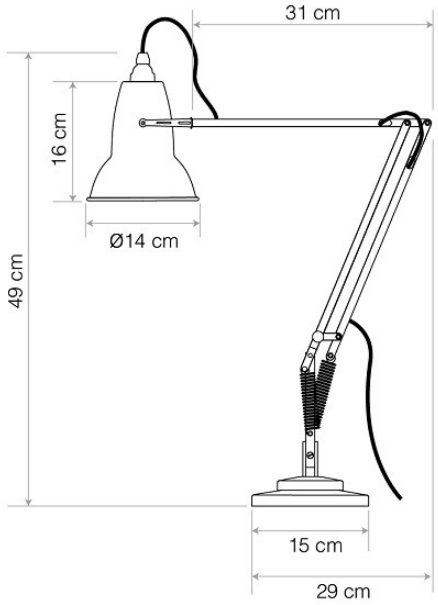

First launched in 1935, the Original 1227 Desk Lamp is an iconic design that is the archetype of Anglepoise lighting. This instantly recognisable lamp is the perfect addition to a desk, side table or shelf. The three-spring mechanism makes the 1227 easily adjustable for functional or ambient lighting. Anglepoise has collaborated with the National Trust to create this limited-edition lamp for a fresh take on a classic design. This series is available in Buttermilk, Sage Green, and Neptune Blue and features the National Trust emblem.

By purchasing this limited edition Anglepoise lamp, the National Trust charity will receive a donation towards the inspiring work they do in the great outdoors. Established in 1895, the National Trust has grown into Europe's largest conservation charity. The longevity of this charity and its passion for nature are embodied in the sturdy, timeless design of the Original 1227 desk lamp, created to bring joy and light for years to come.
