Audo Copenhagen Hashira LED Portable Table Lamp

The Audo Copenhagen Hashira Portable Lamp was designed by Norm Architects, a Copenhagen design duo who draw their inspiration from Scandinavian design principles of timeless aesthetics and natural materials. This can be seen in the design of the Hashira Portable, which uses natural linen as the main feature. As the light is diffused through the linen, the natural patterning of the fabric is highlighted, and each unique shade gives out its own specific light. This design came about after the design duo, Norm Architects, visited a traditional Japanese Washi papermaker, who inspired Norm Architects to combine the traditional lantern design with their Scandinavian minimalism. This fusion gives way to the Japandi trend that values materiality and minimalism.

With a battery concealed in the base of the lamp, the Hashira Portable Lamp can be charged up using the USB cable and taken wherever light is needed. A dimmer is placed at the base of the lamp, where you can dim the light to the perfect brightness. This not only allows you to create the ideal ambience but also extends the lamp's battery life. At 100% brightness, the Audo Copenhagen Hashira Portable can provide light for up to 11 hours; however, at 25% brightness, the lamp can last a whole 30 hours without needing to be charged. This makes the Hashira ideal for a decorative item on a shelf or bedside, as well as a calming diffused light source in any room of the house.
