265 Small Wall Light

Following the success of the iconic 265 Wall Light, Flos released the 265 Small, the smaller version of Paolo Rizzatto's wall light. The 265 was originally designed by Paolo Rizzatto in 1973, which started Rizzatto's wider thinking into objects and illumination. With the asymmetric wall attachment, this lamp has a large range of mobility and can be adjusted with great ease. The high functionality of this design is the reason behind its popularity five decades on.

The 265 Small in its compact form, is perfect for those smaller spaces. Whether as a bedside light or over your counter or dining table. Smaller does not mean less impressive, and the 265 Small does not disappoint. Five decades after its initial launch, the 265 remains a landmark in lighting design history. 265 Small is available in the same colour options: white, black and chromatic. Rizzatto's passion for colour is clear when looking at the 265 Chromatica Wall Light as the vibrant red, yellow and blue add a playful bold aesthetic to any environment.
