Lee Broom Altar LED Pendant

Another beautiful design by Lee Broom, and part of his Divine Inspiration exhibition, the Altar LED Pendant was inspired by the sharp and angular forms of midcentury architecture, specifically churches. Lee Broom has always loved brutalist architecture and he knew that he wanted that to be the inspiration behind his new collection. But upon researching he found himself drawn to places of worship and the beauty of their interiors.

The elegant frame of Altar is carved from solid oak and boasts brushed brass detailing. The ambient glow is emitted from polycarbonate LED tubes seamlessly integrated into the grooves of the structure. This warm and inviting pendant light is crafted from warm materials, curating an inviting atmosphere and appearing just as elegant when turned off. Lee Broom Altar is a creative way to illuminate your space with raw materials, the pendant is striking when displayed above dining tables, over coffee tables, in kitchens and next to your bed. These lights can also be combined to form clusters in larger areas.

Lee Broom Altar can be suspended from a cable or surface mounted to the ceiling.
