Flos Bilboquet Table Lamp

Designed by Philippe Malouin, Flos Bilboquet table lamp is a flexible illumination tool that adapts to the multilayered approach to the home that is defining his generation: millennials and Gen Z. Malouin tested the table lamp where the head connects to the body via a sleek magnetic sphere, allowing it to be used in multiple configurations in his studio and with his friends across East London.

The Bilboquet table lamp is available in three fun and bright colours. Shipping and storage volumes are reduced to a minimum as the product is deconstructed within the packaging, offering users a simple and fun assembly experience. The head and body of the Bilboquet are made of sustainable polycarbonate derived from a by-product of paper production rather than petroleum. This lightweight, multi-purpose table lamp can be moved around the home and is ideal for use as a bedside lamp, desk lamp or reading lamp in a lounge.
