Le Klint Facet Pendant

Le Klint Facet Pendant was designed by Aurélien Barbry, a French designer who now lives his Copenhagen and New York. The Facet sees a departure from Le Klint's traditional pleated paper or foil shades. Barbry emphasises that he's proud to have found a sophisticated form that references Le Klint's minimalistic pleats without disrupting the structure.

The Facet Pendant is a bold yet simple form made from aluminium. The shade guides light through the top and bottom, creating upward and downward lighting. The Facet Pendant is available in a matte white and matte black finish, the muted tones complementing a range of interiors. The directional lighting paired with the Facet's geometric profile creates a striking display above a kitchen island or worktop. Install in rows to line the length of a long table.
