Flos Chiara Floor Lamp

The Flos Chiara Floor Lamp was designed by Mario Bellini in 1969. This indirect floor lamp is made from a chrome reflective stainless steel sheet, which has been laser-cut and intentionally finished with an opaque white plastic film. The extruded black TPU runs along the profile of the body and works as a seal, whilst also adding a unique decorative feature. A white plastic film has been folded and closed with hooks which have been formed from the sheet of metal directly.

The Chiara Floor Lamp has an internal base which is painted in a steel colour and attached to the body for stability and support for the bulb socket. The inner light source is projected up the base, reflecting off the shade and producing an indirect ambient illumination. Flos Chiara Floor Lamp comes with a 190cm cable, which has a dimmer switch attached to adjust the brightness and further personalise the ambience. This floor lamp is incredibly unique and is an eye-catching piece, whether the setting is commercial or residential. Chiara Floor Lamp is also available as a Table Lamp.
