Nuura Asteea LED Wall Light

The Asteea Wall Light was created by Danish lighting designer Sofie Refer. Refer explores themes of nature in her designs, focusing on the richness and extravagance that can be found in the world around us. Inspired by the soft shape of a bell flower, the Asteea reflects this interest. The acrylic shade is formed into a floral silhouette, which pairs with the satin brass frame to create a delicate and elegant aesthetic. The contrast of the rippled shade against golden metal maintains a balance between warmth and strength.

The bell-shaped shade diffuses light into a soft, warm glow, while the ripples refract light, creating a dynamic play of light and shadow. The Asteea Wall Light can be dimmed to suit your requirements, adding depth to any room. The integrated LED module protrudes from the shade, giving the appearance of a flower's stamen. If required, the LED can be replaced. Display the Asteea Wall Light in pairs, framing a bed or a doorway to create a sense of balance. In commercial spaces, the sleek design of the Asteea suits contemporary retail or hospitality settings.
