Nuura Asteea LED Pendant

The Asteea Pendant was created by Danish lighting designer Sofie Refer. Refer's designs challenge conventions while drawing inspiration from the world around us. This is perfectly showcased in the Asteea Pendant. The pendant is inspired by a bell flower, with its shade replicating the delicate flower's head. The golden details are crafted in satin brass and feature a matching cable, which adds a refined detail. The Asteea pendant has a delicate yet structured appearance, perfect for adding elegance with an essence of nature to any environment.

The rippled shade diffuses light to create a subtle and vibrant play of light. The warm, indirect lighting produces a cosy and welcoming atmosphere, which, paired with the pendant's sleek profile, is perfect hanging above a dining table or in a communal area. The Asteea can be installed individually to add a delicate element to any room. Alternatively, create a statement piece by displaying the Asteea in a row, running the length of a long kitchen island or bar. In commercial spaces, the Astea is well-suited to contemporary hospitality interiors such as a grand hotel lobby or a modern restaurant.
