Bert Frank Vima Pendant

Taking its inspiration from the arches and geometric detailing of Art Deco architecture, the Bert Frank Vima Pendant blends timeless form with sculptural presence. Twin vertical cords suspend a softly glowing, double-sided alabaster facade, behind which sits an opal acid-etched glass shade that casts a warm, ambient light. Framed by polished brass blades and diffused across the stepped stone surface, the light appears almost weightless in its execution.

Handcrafted in Birmingham, each Vima Pendant is machined from solid brass and carefully assembled with alabaster quarried from the Aragon region of Spain. The result is a striking, layered composition that brings softness to strong lines, creating balance between modern restraint and decorative elegance.

Perfect as a standalone feature or installed in series above a dining table or hallway, the Vima Pendant offers both a functional and decorative lighting solution. Its soft illumination and finely crafted materials reflect Bert Frank's commitment to heritage British design and contemporary craftsmanship.
