New Works Kantarell LED Pendant Light

Available for pre-order. Official release date 30/07/25.
Designed by Norwegian designer Falke Svatun, the New Works Kantarell Pendant explores the relationship between structure and softness through a graphic, trumpet-like form. Inspired by studies in light direction, its flowing silhouette is formed by two overlapping elements: a spun metal shade and a central reflector, which together diffuse warm light from a hidden integrated LED source. With its subtle downward glow and sculptural clarity, the Kantarell defines space as much as it illuminates it.

Available in two sizes, Ø55 and Ø60, and two finishes, black or nickel-plated, the pendant adapts elegantly to both residential and commercial interiors. The Ø55 version features a gently curved rim that directs light downward, ideal for dining tables and focused settings, while the Ø60 offers broader light distribution for general ambience. The LED delivers warm white light, with dimming compatibility. Kantarell is a contemporary statement piece that balances sculptural expression with refined function.
