Fontana Arte Fontana 1853 Table Lamp

Fontana 1853 is a luminous sculpture by Max Ingrand, with both base and shade formed in satin-finished blown glass so the whole object emits a soft, even glow. The white glass reads calm and architectural, while the surface subtly diffuses the light for a comfortable, glare-free ambience on desks, sideboards and bedside tables. Separate switches control the diffuser and the base, allowing you to light the shade only, the base only, or both together for a richer presence.

Available in three sizes to suit different settings, the 1853 uses replaceable lamps for long-term serviceability and easy tuning of colour temperature and output to the room. The design's purity makes it versatile across residential and hospitality spaces, pairing discreetly with timber, stone and neutral palettes while providing a gentle focal point when illuminated.
