Santa & Cole Shiro Portable Lamp

The Santa & Cole Shiro Portable Lamp was created by Spanish designer Antoni Arola. The lamp is characterised by its cubic form covered by slats, which echo traditional Japanese lanterns. The word Shiro means “white” in Japanese, evoking feelings of emptiness, purity, and calm. The lamp reflects this spiritual openness that invites contemplation and discovery.

When illuminated, the Shiro Portable creates a soft, grazing light. The metal slats filter light into a glare-free glow for a tranquil atmosphere. A two-step dimming switch integrated on the lamp allows users to adjust light intensity to suit any environment. Once fully charged, the Shiro provides between 7 – 14 hours of power, depending on the brightness selected. With its compact design, the Shiro Portable can be easily transported around the home. Display at a bedside, reading nook, or sitting room for a calming and comfortable ambience.
