HAY Aplat Table Lamp

The HAY Aplat Table Lamp, designed by CPRV, is built from folded silk paper, shaped with a small number of carefully judged creases to create a crisp, graphic silhouette. The diffused paper surface softens the light source into a warm, ambient glow, lending a candlelike character that suits quiet corners, bedside tables and relaxed living spaces. A discreet metal hook detail and minimal structure keep the lamp visually light, with the emphasis on material and form rather than hardware.

The Aplat Table Lamp is delivered flat-packed and assembled by the user, which keeps the construction simple and makes it easy to move around the home or workplace when you want to shift the light. Available in two sizes, it can sit neatly on shelves, windowsills and sideboards, while the larger version can also work as a floor-standing piece where you want a gentle pool of light.
