Marset Lauro Wall Light

The Marset Lauro Wall Light is a reissued classic with a strong 1970s profile, designed to feel architectural without becoming fussy. Its rotating, height-adjustable shade lets you aim the light precisely, making it a practical choice beside a bed, next to a sofa, or anywhere you want a reading light that can be tuned to the moment. The wall version is plug-in, which makes it useful in spaces where you want a wall light without committing to a hardwired point.

Lauro is available in dark brown or chromed steel, paired with either an opal diffuser for a softer, more ambient glow or a black shade for a more directional, focused beam. It uses an E27 bulb and is operated via an on-off switch integrated into the shade. A solid, confident option for home settings like bedrooms, offices and lounges, as well as being equally at home in contract interiors like studios, libraries, workspaces and hospitality, suited to anywhere you want design presence with everyday usability.
