The Tom Dixon Bell LED Table Lamp was inspired by the bumper of vintage cars and is an exercise in contemporary minimalism. This table lamp features an oversized dome shade that sits atop a weighted domed base to enhance stability and innovative LED technology. The structure is crafted from steel, and then coated with either a silver or black finish.

The highly polished, reflective surface this creates allows Bell to take on a chameleon-like effect, mirroring the characteristics of its surroundings. The curved shade of the Bell Table Lamp encloses a frosted diffuser and results in a soft and even diffusion of the LED light source, which is directed downwards to illuminate the surface below.
