SkLO Twice Table Lamp

The Twice Table Lamp by SkLO is an asymmetrical design that blends sculptural form with practical lighting. Its irregular profile consists of two spherical diffusers, measuring Ø25cm and Ø11cm, connected by a cylindrical brass frame. Each diffuser is crafted from hand-blown glass and is available in a range of colours, allowing you to mix and match to complement your interior. An included brass ring positioned beneath the large diffuser enhances the decorative quality of the lamp while providing added stability.

The Twice Table suits spaces that call for a decorative lighting solution, suiting bedside tables, living spaces, reading nooks, and dining rooms. When illuminated, the glass spheres cast a softly diffused light that bathes the surrounding surface in a warm glow. Due to the hand-blown process of producing the diffusers, slight variations in colour saturation, tint, and thickness may occur. This is part of SkLO's intent, celebrating the beauty of handcrafted materials.
