Tom Dixon Etch Pendant light

A geodesic design of refined taste, the Etch pendant was inspired by mathematics while its design resembles the old Victorian tin toys. The thin metal surface is digitally acid etched and lightly perforated to allow for light to escape, creating a tangled set of shadows.

The Etch pendant is available with a choice of copper, brass or steel finish. You can create your own cluster of Etch pendants, using various finish options and/or sizes as the Etch is also available in a larger version, Etch 50 cm - Brass.
