GUBI

Pedrera ANA Pendant by Gubi

The Gubi ANA pendant light is part of the Pedrera collection by Barba Corsini and Joaquim Ruiz Millet and takes its design from Corsini's original 1955 PD2 floor lamp, made for the famous La Pedrera in Barcelona. The building, designed by Antoni Gaudí, is distinguished by its wavy and curved facade and its compelling chimneys and skylights which act as the inspiration for Corsini's light.

Being worked into the ANA pendant, both Corsini and Millet, bring the 1955 model to contemporary design for it to be enjoyed in any home or work setting. With a strong and simple character this pendant will add a touch of modernity and its inner diffuser means that a pleasant glow will emanate in the room. To make a real impact inspired by both Gaudí and Corsini, pair this light with others from the collection or simply buy multiple pendants to create a dynamic light feature.
