Designer: Jaume Sans

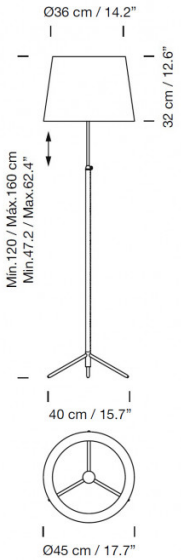

Santa & Cole Pie de Salón Floor Lamp

The Pie de Salón floor light was designed by Jaume Sans, a prolific designer who was a part of the renowned ADLAN group. The group sought to promote new art in Barcelona and ended up being one of the leading groups of avant-gardism and surrealism in Catalonia. Primarily concerned with sculpting and painting, Sans turned to furniture design after the Spanish Civil War and ended up creating the Pie de Salón for use in his own home.

The Pie de Salón floor lamp reinterprets a traditional symmetrical lamp, featuring a tripod structure and an adjustable metal stem. The stem is also covered in leather for a luxurious aesthetic and feel. The metal legs and stem are available in either a chrome-plated or polished brass finish and are paired with five different lampshades, made in a variety of materials. This floor lamp is the perfect addition to any living room, bedroom, dining room, study and more in homes and commercial spaces.
