Artemide Itka Suspension

An iconic, minimal design by Naoto Fukasawa, the Artemide Itka Suspension has an opaline glass diffuser and a metal structure. Even though that diffuser has a rather flat surface, the suspension light emits a uniform light and doesn't create any shadowed areas. Fukasawa is characterised by the "without thought" and "design dissolving in behaviour" approach to his designs. His "outline" thinking emphasises the relationship and the boundaries between objects, people and the environment.

Itka is available in three sizes, as with many other lights in the collection, the Itka 20, Itka 35 and the largest Itka 50. This luminaire is an elegant addition to residential and commercial settings, providing a sleek, evenly diffused glow. The pendant can be utilised independently or displayed in multiples to create a more dramatic installation. You can explore the Itka Collection, which includes a minimalistic ceiling/wall light.
