PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

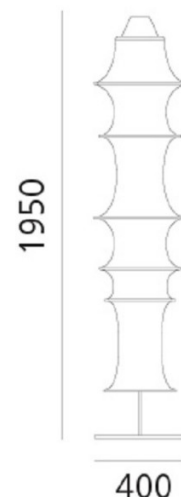

Designer: Bruno Munari

Falkland Floor Lamp by Artemide

The Falkland floor lamp has a distinctive tubular shape, provided by the aluminium rings which stretch the elastic material which are created using tension. The designer Bruno Munari originally developed this design in his workshop using tights and metal rings, and thus the Falkland was born. The slim design means that although the Falkland floor lamp is over 1.9m tall, it can fit into only a few centimetres of space, an aspect of design that Munari was passionate about. All Falkland lights have a fireproof elastic fabric, making a unique feature for any environment and interior.

The fabric creates a soft and diffused luminosity as it is filtered through, making the Falkland floor lamp perfect for a cosy environment. The Falkland collection includes many different sized suspensions which can be used individually or as a grouped statement to increase the Falkland's impact.
