Secto 4210 Floor Lamp

The Secto 4210 Floor Lamp is a defining piece in the Secto Design collection, known for its timeless Scandinavian elegance. Designed by Seppo Koho, this floor lamp features an inverted funnel-shaped shade crafted from form-pressed birch slats, which gently diffuse light to create a warm and inviting atmosphere. As one of Secto's original designs, the 4210 embodies the brand's commitment to sustainable materials and exceptional craftsmanship.

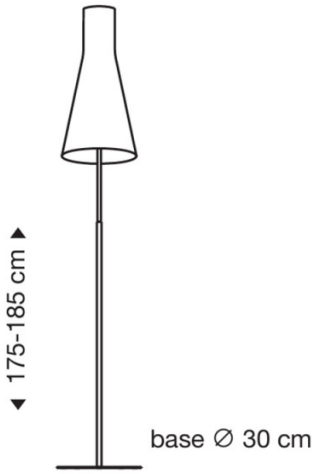

Standing at an adjustable height of 175–185 cm, the Secto 4210 is perfect for living rooms, reading nooks, or lounges. The shade is available in four finishes: natural birch, black, white, and walnut veneer, each complemented by a matching or contrasting frame. The lamp comes with an on/off switch conveniently integrated into the cable, offering both style and functionality.

Whether used as a standalone statement piece or as part of a cohesive lighting arrangement with other Secto designs, the 4210 Floor Lamp is a versatile addition to any interior. Explore the full Secto Design collection to create a harmonious lighting scheme for your space.

Please Note: The Secto 4210 Floor Lamp in Birch, White and Walnut is supplied with a grey steel stand and black cable as standard, while the Black finish is supplied with a black stand and black cable. Please contact us for further information.
