KDLN Kushi Pendant

Designed by Alberto Saggia and Valerio Sommella, the KDLN Kushi Pendant takes inspiration from Japanese cuisine, with its name meaning “skewer” in Japanese. This reference is reflected in the lamp’s softly rounded opal glass diffuser, which appears to be pierced by a slender metal rod. Crafted from two layers of mouth-blown glass, the diffuser emits a warm, softly diffused glow, while the rod is available in Black, Brass, or Copper finishes for a refined metallic accent.

Elegant and understated, the Kushi Pendant brings a sculptural touch to both residential and commercial interiors. Available with a diameter of 16 or 33cm, it can be displayed individually above a dining table, kitchen island, hallway, or bedside area, or arranged in a cluster to create a striking feature installation. Its simple form and gentle illumination make it a versatile choice for adding warmth, character, and contemporary elegance to any space.
