KDLN Kushi Ceiling Light

Designed by Alberto Saggia and Valerio Sommella, the KDLN Kushi Ceiling Light takes inspiration from Japanese cuisine. Its name, “Kushi”, means skewer in Japanese, a reference reflected in the lamp’s gently rounded glass form, which is pierced by a slim metal rod. Available with the rod in black, brass, or copper, the design brings a subtle metallic accent and a sense of understated luxury to the ceiling. The opal diffuser is crafted from two layers of mouth-blown glass, emitting a warm, softly diffused light that surrounds the shade and bathes the ceiling in a warm glow.

The Kushi Ceiling Light is an ideal choice for hallways, dining areas, and other spaces that benefit from soft, inviting illumination. Simple yet striking, this KDLN ceiling lamp creates visual impact whether used as a single fitting or arranged in a cluster. Display throughout the home with other pieces from the Kushi Collection for a sense of balance and flow.
