Marset Ginger LED Wall Light

Marset Ginger LED Wall Light is a movable wall light by Joan Gaspar, using the thin circular shade that defines the Ginger collection. The pressed wood diffuser is made from sheets of wood, paper, and resin compacted under high pressure, creating a slim shade with the warmth of natural oak or wenge. The light source is hidden behind the diffuser, so the lamp gives reflected light rather than exposing the LED directly.

The wall light is available in two sizes, Ginger 20 A and Ginger A. Ginger 20 A is the smaller version, suited to tighter bedside areas, compact reading corners, and smaller desk spaces. Ginger A has a wider shade and longer reach, giving it more presence beside a bed, over a table, or next to a sofa or lounge chair. The black movable arm allows the shade to be pulled out or folded back, making the light more useful through the day than a fixed wall lamp.

Ginger is available in Oak and Wenge finishes, with plug-in and hardwired versions. The plug-in version includes an in-line dimmer on the cable, while the hardwired version is supplied with a canopy switch. Most suited to bedrooms, desks, reading corners, living rooms, dining areas, hotels, restaurants, and spaces where a wall light needs to provide adjustable reflected light.
