Designer: Dima Loginoff

Fedora 6 by Axolight

Dima Loginoff creates minimalist objects and he draws inspiration from Russian culture for his designs. The Fedora is a great example of Loginoff's work, named after a forgotten Russian name. The light also pays tribute to the traditional Russian doll, matryoshka. The Fedora lights have become a classic for Italian company, Axolight.

Fedora 6 includes six individual Fedora lights, each hanging at a different height from a round, white varnished canopy. The suspension is comprised partly of an aluminium diffuser and another part of a glass diffuser. The aluminium part can have a finish in bronze, chrome or rose gold. The suspension is dimmable via mains phase dimming, and should only be used with LED lamps. Fedora lights are perfect for both commercial and residential projects, and in hospitality. Install Fedora 6 in your living room, dinning room, entrance hall, reception area, meeting rooms and bring the finishing touch to your interior decor.

Browse the entire Fedora Collection an pick from various options, with a 1, 3 or 12 Fedora lights with a white, round ceiling canopy or 7 lights in line with a rectangular canopy. The family of lights also includes a single recessed ceiling light, with a transparent glass diffuser.
