Anglepoise Original 1227 Giant Pendant

The Original 1227 Giant Pendant was created by Anglepoise after the Roald Dahl Museum commissioned them to create a giant version of the infamous 1227 Pendant. The museum's exhibition celebrates the history between the beloved children's author and the classic lamp. Roald Dahl famously used the 1227 Table Lamp in his Writing Hut to illuminate his desk as he worked. After creating the 1227 Giant Pendant for the museum, Anglepoise released the fantastical and whimsical light for residential and commercial use.

The Original 1227 Giant Pendant demands notice. Its impressive scale adds a sculptural presence and a strong personality to any interior. Casting downward lighting, the pendant is effective when positioned above a dining table or work surface. Install individually or in multiples to line a long table for uniform and comfortable lighting. Display with the Original 1227 Giant Floor Lamp for a larger-than-life installation with a touch of humour.
