Mountain View by Axolight

A design by Dima Loginoff, the Mountain View suspension light is a unique object. The suspension is made of blown glass that has been hand-crafted by master craftsmen. Loginoff's sensitivity has led to his unique approach in his designs. Mountain view - named after the three dimensional effect inside the glass which resembles mountain tops.

The suspension is available with a transparent glass and chrome of golden structure, as well as with an amber glass and gold structure or grey glass and chrome structure. Mountain Dew can be installed in any interior, both residential and commercial; above a dining table, in the living room, your office or reception area or above any feature you wish to accentuate. The light becomes a decorative piece when not in use, and perhaps a low installation will allow the viewer to appreciate the details of the glass.
