Gubi Satellite Pendant Light

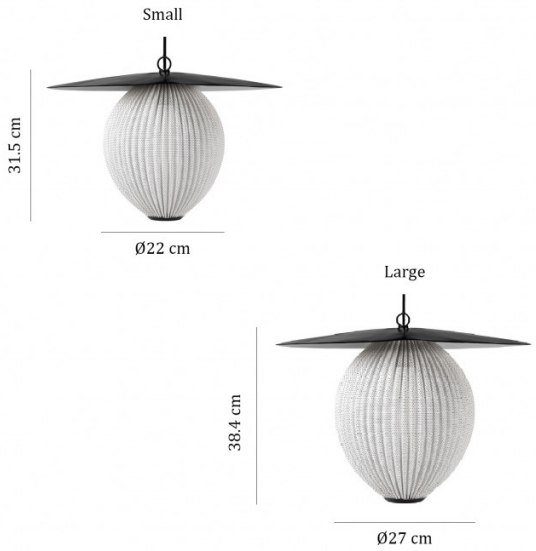

The Gubi Satellite Pendant Light, designed in 1953 by Mathieu Matégot, is a masterpiece of mid-century innovation. Its geometric silhouette and perforated Rigitulle shade embody Matégot's signature style, combining modern aesthetics with the lightness and transparency of fabric-like metal.

The Satellite Pendant casts a soft, diffused glow, with its playful "top hat" cap adding a touch of whimsy. Whether hung individually as a statement piece or clustered in a dynamic grouping, this pendant transforms any dining room, hallway, or commercial space with its atmospheric lighting and elegant design.

Available in two sizes and three distinct colours—black, White, and Grey — the Satellite Pendant complements a wide range of interiors. Its timeless appeal and unique craftsmanship ensure that this light is not only functional but also a work of art.
