Le Klint 352 Table Lamp

Designed by Aage Petersen in 1970 for Le Klint, the 352 table lamp is a chic and timeless lamp with an elegant hand-crafted shade. Each shade is hand-pleated following Le Klint's traditional style - a trademark of the lighting brand since its opening in 1943. The black and brass stand creates an effective contrast next to the pleated shade, a juxtaposition of industrial materials against the delicate shade. The shade is available in Le Klint's standard plastic foil or paper. The plastic foil is fire-retardant and UV-resistant. Both are similar in colour, however, the paper shade will patinate over time and develop a golden hue.

The 352 table light has an adjustable height, spanning from 62 to 88 cm. With a soft glow, the diffused light creates a welcoming atmosphere, perfect on desks or bedside tables to add a warm ambience and functional light to the space. The classic design suits both classic and contemporary decors and is suitable for either domestic or commercial interiors. To create a seamless design scheme, pair the 352 table light with the 351 floor lamp, which shares the same aesthetic on a bigger scale.
