Perch Branch by Moooi

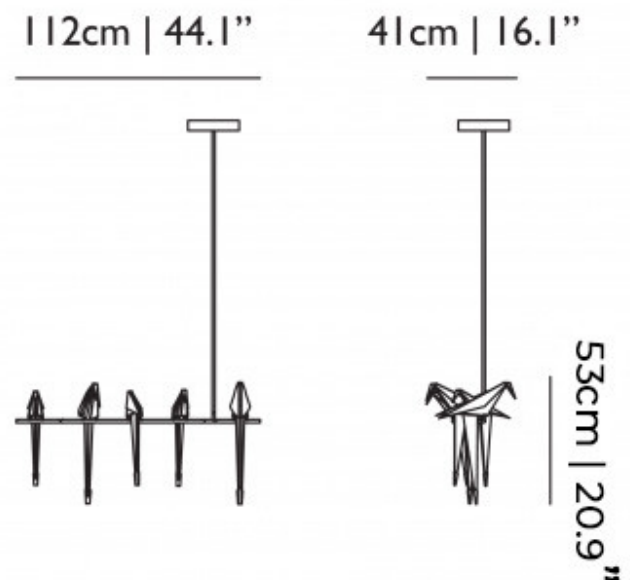

As if submerged into the rain forest, tranquility and nature take over, with the Perch Light Branch. The suspension was designed by architect and designer Umut Yamac for Dutch company, Moooi. Yamac envisioned a light that would interact with its surroundings as well as the used could interact with the light. A soft touch or a small breeze will instantly set the birds in motion and they will gently swing on the branch. He also experimented with various types of paper, before choosing the archival, polypropylene paper as he adored the way it diffused the light. The paper is then folded into shape, using the origami methods and turn it into this familiar avian shape. The rest of the birds' details as well as the branch are made of brass painted aluminium.

The Moooi Perch Light Branch includes three small and two large birds that rest atop a 1.5 metre brass branch. The suspension emits a warm and diffused glow into every direction. The Perch Light Branch can be installed above a dining table, the foyer or even in the corner of a room as an accent piece, guaranteed to instantly draw all eyes. Explore the rest of the Perch Light Collection which includes floor and table lamps and wall lights.

Enclosed there are 6 parts of suspension poles in 3 different sizes : 2x10cm, 2x15 cm, 2x50cm (total 1.5m). Additional poles are available on special request.
