Northern Moo Wall Light

The Moo Wall Light is a delightfully kitsch sculptural piece from designers Ove Rogne and Trond Svendgård. The full-scale wall-mounted Norwegian moose head is rated IP 44, making it perfect for display indoors or outdoors. The lamp's body is made of polyresin, which diffuses light from within into a soft glow. The warm light from The Moo Wall Light creates a welcoming atmosphere as well as an eye-catching and artistic display in the room.

The Moo Wall Light was inspired by nature. Both Ove Rogne and Trond Svendgård have summer homes in the North of Norway, where they would often spot the antlered head of a moose emerging from the woodlands. This postmodern kitsch trophy gives you a cruelty-free way to appreciate the majesty of the animal. The Moo Light features light sources in the horns as well as the main body, creating a sparkling glow throughout the structure.
