Marset Funiculi A Fabric wall light

Marset's Funiculi collection originally came from a 1979 design by Lluís Porqueras. The design also featured a fabric-covered cone-shaped diffuser to create a welcoming atmosphere as well as functional downlighting, this was a classic aesthetic for the time. Porqueras was known for his utilitarian design, removing unnecessary flourishes of commonly used objects, returning them to their simple basic function. Marset reintroduces this original edition of Porqueras's Funiculi collection, updating the classic piece for contemporary living. Funiculi takes its name from the term funicular, the act of moving up and down, this is embodied in the lamp's main feature of moving up and down the central pole to control the light source.

Funiculi by Marset is available in 2 diffused shade colour options and comprises of a matching floor and table lamp. This modernised collection is perfect for creating a cosy ambience as well as being suitable for reading and tasks.
