Petite Friture

So-Sage Gendarme Pendant Light by Petite Friture

The Gendarme pendant light was designed by Sam Baron, and takes its name and shape from a popular European sausage. After being inspired by how meat hangs down in the butcher's shop, Baron, in collaboration with Petite Friture, created the Petite Friture So-Sage collection, which whimsically takes on the form of sausages to create beautiful pendant lights.

The So-Sage Gendarme pendant is made from borosilicate glass, which exposes the light source and creates a contemporary look. The light seemingly sparkles out of the glass structure, being both effective and pretty in any space. Use in many interiors and use one for smaller rooms or a mix and match from the entire range for a bigger illumination.
