Verpan Series 430 Chair

The Verpan Series 430 Chair was a forgotten design by Verner Panton, rediscovered in Panton's archive. Based on Panton's original drawings and notes, Verpan were able to re-imagine the design to fit modern standards. The 430 Chair is highly adaptable as it can be customised to suit any setting or décor. With a wide range of upholstery options and four frame options, users have the freedom to create a personalised chair that perfectly suits their style.

The Series 430 Chair balances functionality, simplicity, and elegance. Panton designed the chair to provide the same comfort as an armchair, using a wide nestling backrest and applying traditional webbing to the seat to adjust for body weight. The chair is stackable, making it easy to move and stack when not in use or while cleaning. Display around a dining table, in a waiting room, or any area within the home that calls for refined, timeless elegance.
