In The Tube 120-700 Wall Light by DCW éditions

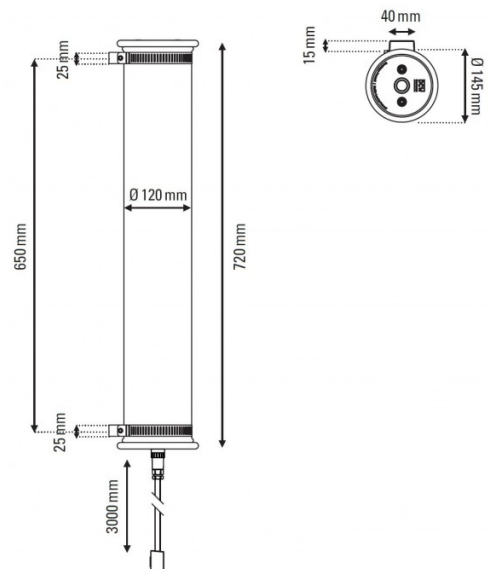

Designed by Dominique Perrault & Gaëlle Lauriot-Prévost, the In The Tube 120-700 wall lamp is a stunning and eye-catching light that can be utilised in many spaces and settings. Comprised of a glass tube which holds metal mesh diffusers and a metal reflector, a truly unique and original design that encapsulates the design duo's want to create a fixture that has never been seen before.

The wall light comes in various colour combinations: you can choose between black or transparent stoppers, a gold or silver reflector and gold or silver diffusers. The inner lampshades diffuse the light bulbs which shine off the reflector to create a warm and glowing illumination. The nature of the design also means that the various colour finishes create their own type of glow. Use in bedrooms, lounges, dining rooms, hallways and more and also match with other lights from the DCW éditions In The Tube collection for a consistent lighting scheme throughout your interior.

Please Note: the DCW éditions In The Tube Wall Light can be supplied with an IP64 rating upon request, making it suitable for bathrooms and exterior settings.
