&Tradition P376 Pendant

Originally designed in 1963 by Preben Juhl Fabricius and Jørgen Kastholm, the P376 Pendant is now re-launched by &Tradition to bring a classic design to the modern eye. The two designers were in partnership for 8 years in the mid-20th century. Over this time, their collaboration produced many classics within the Danish modernism movement, which are now internationally lauded. Their designs were defined by elegance, aesthetic beauty and functionality, which is reflected in the P376 Pendant.

The P376 Pendant is formed of 5 concentric circles, which diffuse light to produce a glare-free glow. The curved, sleek design makes the P376 a contemporary lighting solution that is ingrained with vintage design principles. Available in Matt White and Aluminium, the pendant can fit into many spaces and design schemes, working particularly well over tables in a kitchen, lounge, or dining room. The P376 is available in two sizes, the smaller KF1 and the bigger KF2. Create an impact by combining the two sizes and colours, or display one stand-alone pendant for a more simplistic, elegant presence.
