P376 Pendant Light by &Tradition

Originally designed in 1963 by Preben Juhl Fabricius and Jørgen Kastholm, the P376 pendant light is now re-launched by &Tradition to bring a classic design to the modern eye. The two designers were in partnership for 8 years in the mid 20th century and their collaboration produced many classics within the Danish modernism movement, that are now internationally lauded. Their designs were defined by elegance, aesthetic beauty and functionality which is certainly seen in the P376 pendant.

The pendant is made from 5 concentric circles which diffuse the light to produce a glare-free glow. The curved, sleek design makes the P376 pendant a contemporary light that is entrenched in vintage design principles. Available in Matt White and Aluminium, this pendant light can fit into many spaces and design schemes and works particularly well hanging over tables in kitchen, lounge and dining areas. The P376 is also available in two sizes, the smaller KF1 and the bigger KF2. Create an impact by combining the two sizes and colours, or have a more streamlined effect by having one stand-out pendant.
