Artek A110 Hand Grenade Pendant

The Artek A110 Hand Grenade pendant light, designed by Alvar Aalto, is an iconic example of modernist design. Known for its striking cylindrical form and perforated ring, this pendant light projects both direct and indirect light, illuminating the surrounding space while creating a warm halo effect. The A110's design reduces glare while enhancing the overall lighting experience, making it a versatile lighting solution for both residential and commercial interiors.

Available in several finishes, the A110 pendant is a timeless lighting fixture that blends functionality with sculptural beauty. “Hand Grenade” was designed for the building Alvar Aalto created for the Finnish Engineers’ Association.
