FAD Table Lamp by Santa & Cole

The FAD lights were originally designed for the Fostering Arts and Design Association, in Barcelona, and were thus named after it. The FAD Association, founded in 1903, was concerned about the consequences of industrialisation. Over the decades, the Association was an advocate for Spanish architecture and projective arts. Miguel Mila, the designer of the FAD lamp, created a composition of fine craftsmanship.

The table lamps have a small cylindrical structure, made of oak. The structure is hollow, with four openings and balances the linen lampshade at the top. The lamp's base is made of a cross shaped base; the base has the same dimensions as the lampshade's lower circumference. Available in two sizes, the original FAD table was followed by the smaller FAD Menor lamp. Ideal for small spaces, in both residential and commercial settings as well as in hospitality. Both lights come with an in line dimmer, allowing you to adjust light intensity.

The FAD Collection also includes the FAD floor lamp, with an adjustable height.
