Gubi Stemplite Floor Lamp

The Gubi Stemplite Floor Lamp is a reimagined mid-century classic, originally designed by Bill Curry in 1962 and now revived for the modern era. As one of the first "total look" lamps, this piece replaces the traditional base-and-shade structure with a sleek, integrated form. Inspired by the slender stems of flowers, the lamp features a die-cast metal base and a frosted glass globe that emits a warm, diffused glow.

Available in two heights and three sophisticated finishes, black chrome, black red, and pebble grey, the Stemplite Floor Lamp complements a wide range of interior styles. Whether used as a standalone statement or paired with other pieces from the collection, it brings a sense of elegance and warmth to living rooms, bedrooms, and offices. Its historical significance is further highlighted by its inclusion in the original Star Trek TV series, making it a true icon of 1960s design.

The Stemplite Floor Lamp offers more than just aesthetic appeal, it's also practical and adaptable. The frosted glass shade softens the light, making it ideal for creating a cosy atmosphere, while the choice of finishes ensures it can blend seamlessly with both vintage and contemporary interiors. Its timeless design ensures it remains a focal point for years to come.
