Stemplite Pendant Light by Gubi

The Stemplite Pendant Light, part of Bill Curry's iconic 1962 collection, embodies the innovation and optimism of the mid-century modern era. Designed as an inversion of the original floor lamp, the pendant retains the hallmark features of the Stemplite series: a die-cast metal base, a smooth frosted glass globe, and a clean, organic form inspired by the natural world.

Available in three refined finishes, black chrome, black red, and pebble grey, the Stemplite Pendant Light adds a touch of sophistication to any interior. Its soft, diffused illumination is ideal for dining areas, kitchens, and living spaces, whether hung individually or clustered to create a striking visual effect. This pendant offers both historical significance and contemporary versatility, making it a perfect choice for modern homes and professional settings.

The pendant's inverted design introduces a dynamic element to the collection, while its frosted glass globe provides even light distribution. Whether you're looking to highlight a central dining table or create a focal point in a lounge area, the Stemplite Pendant combines practicality with an enduring sense of style.
