FRITZ HANSEN

Maluma Pendant Light by Fritz Hansen

Designed by Fumie Shibata, the Maluma pendant takes its name from the Japanese word Malu which means round and complete. Made from frosted glass, the lampshade is hand-blown and has soft, rounded edges which produces a beautiful and easy-going silhouette. The stem that holds the glass is made from aluminium, being a nice pairing to create a chic and stylish design.

The Maluma pendant lamp is available in 3 wonderful colours, rose, plum or moss, and comes with a ceiling canopy included, perfect for many settings. The glass shade means it adds a pop of colour when turned off and then becomes more translucent when turned on, warming up the space. The pendant light produces a nice, diffused glow and also provides a downward directed light thanks to the opening in the bottom of the lampshade.
